

The London riots

London – Tuesday 9th August - lunchtime - The capital was overnight once again under attack from a mob of rioters. Parliament has been recalled by the Prime Minister David Cameron, who himself cut short his holiday to fly home to deal with the situation. British newspapers today reported the police last night lost control of London's streets, as lawlessness spread to all parts of the capital. Huge swathes of London and three other major British cities woke up to the charred debris after the third night of rioting. The Metropolitan Police have promised 16,000 officers, an unprecedented amount, with all able-bodied officers on the streets of London tonight as they try to quell the unrest. So far more than 450 people have been arrested and 69 people have been charged. Tomorrow night's England football game at Wembley against Holland has this morning been called off.

The violence originally started in Tottenham following the police shooting dead Mark Duggan, a drug dealer. It quickly spread to other London suburbs including Hackney, Peckham, Bethnal Green, Woolwich, Ealing, Deptford, Camden, Kensington and Lewisham in London where serious amounts of violence occurred. The looters have coordinated their raids using their Blackberries and Twitter as the rage spread like wildfire. Yesterday's violence ignited in Hackney around 4pm when a mob of hooded youths began hurling missiles at police and setting fire to bins and cars. Masked rioters on BMX bicycles armed with batons also attacked a crowded London bus during the evening rush hour, chasing terrified commuters as they tried to escape. There were 20,800 emergency 999 calls made in one day, up 400%. London Fire Brigade had one of their busiest nights in history. Metropolitan police used armoured vehicles to push back the rioters in Lavender Hill and Clapham. In Croydon a woman leapt to safety from a building set alight. Parts of London have resembled the Blitz such as been the destruction of many buildings.

Businesses and livelihoods have gone up in flames, many shops ransacked by rioters. In Dalston and Hackney shopkeepers and their families fought back against looting thieves, forcing the youths to retreat. Other British cities saw riots also, including Birmingham, Liverpool, Nottingham and Bristol. The question is - why is all this happening?

EXERCISES

1. The London riots: Briefly, what three things do you know about the recent London riots? Go round the room swapping details.

2. Dictation: The teacher will read four to six lines of the article slowly and clearly. Students will write down what they hear. The teacher will repeat the passage slowly again. Self-correct your work from page one - filling in spaces and correcting mistakes. Be honest with yourself on the number of errors. Advise the teacher of your total number of errors. Less than five is very good. Ten is acceptable. Any more is room for improvement! More than twenty - you need to do some work!

3. Reading: The students should now read the article aloud, swapping readers every paragraph.

4. Vocabulary: Students should now look through the article and underline any vocabulary they do not know. Look in dictionaries. Discuss and help each other out. The teacher will go through and explain any unknown words or phrases.

5. The article: Students should look through the article with the teacher.

- a) What is the article about?
- b) What do you think about the article?
- c) What is the latest on this story?

6. The London riots: Name five things you have learned from the article about the London riots. Then add five other things you know about the London riots. Write them below. Explain to your partner why you chose these. What is your conclusion?

Five things from the article	Five other things about the riots

The teacher will choose some pairs to discuss their findings in front of the class.

7. Let's think! In pairs. On the board write as many words as you can to do with The London Riots. One-two minutes. Compare with other teams. Using your words compile a short dialogue together.

8. Let's roleplay 1: Radio London: In pairs/groups. One of you is the interviewer. The others are one of the following people. You are in the Radio London studio. Today's interview is about: The London Riots.

1	A journalist	3	A local London businessman
2	A police officer	4	The British Prime Minister

The teacher will choose some pairs to roleplay their interview in front of the class.

The London Riots – 10th August 2011

9. Let's roleplay 2: In pairs. You are in a pub in London. Both of you meet at the bar, having ordered a drink. You are both on holiday, staying in different suburbs of London. Both of you witnessed the London riots in different parts of London. Get talking about what you saw. 5 minutes.

10. Let's do 'The Article Quiz': Have the students quiz each other in pairs. They score a point for each correct answer and half a point each time they have to look at the article for help. See who can get the highest score!

Student A

- 1) Name the British Prime Minister.
- 2) Name three London suburbs that were under attack.
- 3) How many people were arrested?
- 4) Where did the violence originally start?
- 5) How did the looters coordinate their attacks?

Student B

- 1) What is a 999 call?
- 2) How many emergency calls were received?
- 3) What other British cities saw rioting?
- 4) What was the Blitz?
- 5) Why did the violence originally start?

11. Let's think! Think of five reasons for the riots. Then add five possible solutions. Write them below. Explain to your partner why you chose these. What is your conclusion?

Five reasons for the riots	Five solutions
1	1
2	2
3	3
4	4
5	5

The teacher will choose some pairs to discuss their findings in front of the class.

12. The London riots: In pairs, discuss the following about the London riots and their aftermath etc...

1	The locations of the riots	6	The rioters/looters/arsonists
2	The police response	7	Being safe in London now
3	The economic impact	8	The loss of tourists
4	Living in London	9	The Olympics 2012 - safety
5	The damage to businesses	10	The British government's response

The teacher will choose some pairs to discuss their findings in front of the class.

13. Let's write an e-mail: Write and send a 200 word e-mail to your teacher about: The London riots. Your e-mail can be read out in class.

14. Sentence starters: Finish these sentence starters. Correct your mistakes. Compare what other people have written.

- a) The London riots _____
- b) The rioters _____

DISCUSSION

Student A questions

- 1) Did the headline make you want to read the article?
