

A visit to Prague

Hands up those of you that have been to Prague. I can't think of anyone who hasn't - such is its popularity with visiting tourists. So why do people go there? There are undoubtedly a 101 reasons why you should visit Prague - such is its charm. For those who haven't, it might just be worth booking a trip there. For those not exactly sure where Prague is - let me inform you that it is in the Czech Republic, which is in 'Central Europe - The Heart of Europe!' It is the capital city. Without further ado let me take you on a leisurely stroll around Prague... Known as 'the Paris of the East' and as 'the city of 100 steeples', its crowded old cobblestone streets serve tourists 365 days a year. It constantly tops other top European cities to visit - like London, Paris, Budapest and Vienna. Dozens of airlines fly to Prague, often with cheap airfares, making it a bargain place to visit. From children to old age pensioners, the city is a huge hit with all ages. Prague offers tourists so much more than people expect.

The historical city of 1.2 million is full of stories and legends to discover and hear. Mind you, it is also unfortunately full of stag parties and sometimes suffers from 'too many tourists in your face' syndrome - such is its popularity. Number one attraction must be either Prague Castle, which dates from the 9th century and overlooks the old city, or Charles Bridge that is packed with tourists buying knickknacks from artisans or listening to musicians play. It is said people have been crossing this bridge since 1357! There are more than 80 museums, including the famous Transport Museum, and 70 theatres to visit including the National Marionette Theatre. The International Institute of Marionette Art is also worth visiting as are some great historic cinemas - from 30s art deco to communist designed facades. There are also one or two pubs, to say the least, that serve some magnificent Czech beer like Pilsner and Budweiser.

Prague Castle is where the kings and princes of Bohemia used to live. It is now the seat of Czech President Vaclav Klaus. There are many steps to climb up to the castle. Visitors will see many tiny houses in Golden Lane that in the 16th century were the homes of soldiers. At the top there are the magnificent Gothic Cathedral and St Georges Basilica - together with some inspiring views of the city. Beyond is The Old Town, which remains the centre of Prague. In it is the Old Town Square with its famous Astronomical clock. The Jewish Quarter has four synagogues. Some have 15th century graves. The Pinkas Synagogue remembers the Nazi holocaust while the Old New Synagogue is more than 800 years old. Definitely worth a visit!

People like to shop and Prague is definitely the place to do this. Many international top stores have branches here. British stores like Marks & Spencer's, Debenhams, Top Shop together with H&M have outlets here. Certainly tourists love the late night shopping. Treat yourself to buying some famous Czech crystal. Prague has some fabulous restaurants. Take your pick from the many traditional Czech foods to a full international cuisine. Then there is the famous Prague nightlife! Restaurants, wonderful pubs, loud discos, late night walks, cinema, theatre, and strip clubs – it is all here! Taking a stroll is a positive delight. Looking out on the Vltava river from Charles Bridge or from one of the many viewpoints around the city is one way to spend an afternoon. Hop on a paddle boat. Occasionally there are dragon races on the river. Hire a horse and carriage! In the summer suck an ice lolly. Relax in the sun! In the winter visit the delightful Christmas market. Visit a park. For students, learn a language. For aspiring teachers, do a T.E.F.L. course in Prague – I did! Fantastic!

A map is useful to help you get around. With or without one the city's tram and underground system will get you quickly from A to B. The airport and infrastructure have been vastly expanded. Prague also has some fine universities like Charles University. A word of warning – watch out for the really expensive taxis that in certain quarters will no doubt rip you off. Even the city's Mayor got done in one while travelling in disguise a few years ago. Foreign exchange booths are also another mega rip off! Use an ATM! Most people who do visit Prague want to go back though. Be inspired – visit Prague. It's affordable!
