'It's a Girl!' New Princess for Royal Couple

'It's a girl!' - That was the news from London that the world was waiting to hear. The new princess was born at 8.34am on Saturday 2nd May 2015 at St Mary's hospital in West London. Outside it, a huge crowd had gathered to celebrate the joyful news.

The new baby brought instant joy to William, Kate and the nation. Prince George now has a baby sister to play with. The UK now has a new people's princess. The Duke and Duchess of Cornwall's second child will be called Charlotte Elizabeth Diana. She is 4th in line to the throne.

Following the royal birth the Royal Mint unveiled a limited edition £5 coin, to commemorate the safe arrival of the royal baby. The coins have royal approval. A total of 500 gold coins and 9,500 silver coins will be produced. Silver pennies will be given to every child born on the same day in the UK.

Within hours the new princess was visited by her father and older brother Prince George. On Saturday evening the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall departed St Mary's hospital in West London. Prince William carried his new daughter out to the waiting press and assembled crowds. He then drove his family home to Kensington Palace. Earlier that afternoon The Queen, who was visiting Yorkshire, chose to celebrate the event by wearing a pink outfit.

On Sunday both sets of grandparents visited the new princess at her new home at Kensington Palace. Carol Middleton and her daughter Pippa arrived first. Pippa from henceforth will be known as Auntie Pippa. Kate's father Michael later drove into Kensington Palace to see the princess, as did the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall.
